NEW BUSINESS

- 1. PC Fair – Bruce Livingston There are no window displays available to put up our display board for the Fair. CDF will not be having a booth. Bruce will work with PNF on possibly incorporating our display into their area. Andy Anderson also advised the group he was approached by Soroptomist asking if we want space at the County Picnic in June. Bruce will contact them on the specifics.
- 2. Cutting Trees on Private Property – Mary Huggins Mary discussed the issue of cutting trees on private lands and which if any exemption “permit” would be necessary. She provided a handout that included PRC 4527. She said that cutting trees for commercial purposes including selling, bartering, trading, or exchanging products requires a permit from CDF. Additionally, cutting trees to convert land for residential purposes (home driveway or infrastructure features) requires a conversion permit, even if the material is not going to be sold, bartered, traded, or exchanged.

Property owners can remove trees within 150 feet of an established residence for hazard abatement. Landowners can also cut any trees on their property for non-commercial purposes (not selling, bartering, trading, or exchanging the wood or converting) and no CDF exemption “permit” is required.

Usually when an exemption to cut trees is obtained from CDF, a Licensed Timber Operator (LTO) who will perform the work is required to sign the permit. In the case of a Less Than 3 Acre Conversion Exemption or Timber

Harvesting Plan, a Registered Professional Forester (RPF) and LTO need to sign the forms.

If no commercial product is being removed (wood is not being sold bartered exchanged or traded), or timberland is not being converted, no permit is necessary, then a LTO is not required to cut trees. However, depending on a landowners timber falling experience it may be prudent from a personal safety and liability insurance standpoint to hire a LTO. Hiring a LTO also requires the LTO to remove the slash and therefore legally relieves the landowner from this burden.

There is currently no flow chart or FAQ (Frequently Asked Questions) fact sheet available to assist landowners with this issue. She explained that each situation is unique and it would be best for individual landowners to call her directly in order to avoid pitfalls and misinterpretations of the convoluted rules. She will notify the Forest Practice Coordinator and CDF website Coordinator to get a FAQ or flowchart on the CDF website. Currently the website site has some information regarding this at www.fire.ca.gov
